Dear Sir/Madam,

I would like to draw your kind attention to the COVID-19 situation and the role of veterinarians and para-veterinarians in dealing with veterinary health care in the present lockdown period. Also, you must have been in receipt of the Department of Animal Husbandry & Dairying GOI’s communication dated 23rd March 2020 (copy enclosed). You may further be aware that Ministry of Home Affairs GOI, vide its order of 25th March 2020 (copy enclosed for ready reference) has issued an addendum to the Guidelines annexed with their earlier order of 24th March 2020 under the National Disaster Management Act 2005 and included Veterinary hospitals in the exception list – these will continue to remain functional during the lockdown period.

In this context, it is emphasized that veterinarians and para-veterinarians in the country have already undergone trainings on bio-security, bio-safety and personal hygiene during bird flu outbreaks and thereafter. They may also be well aware of taking necessary protective measures themselves as most might have worked/assisted during control and containment operations of zoonotic diseases, e.g. Avian influenza (Bird flu), etc. Yet, in view of COVID-19, they may be advised to take all necessary precautionary measures including maintaining personal hygiene while working in veterinary hospitals/dealing with veterinary healthcare and social distancing to protect themselves as well as people around them, if any.

Further, with such experience, the veterinary as well as the para-veterinarian community can definitely play a great role in spreading awareness as well as the preventive steps so as to break the cycle of COVID-19, necessary for preventing its spread. Majority of them work at the grassroot/field level, having close connect with the village level authorities and important social persons there. In addition, veterinarians and para-veterinarians are also a part of the Taluka/Tehsil, District and State level committees. Therefore, they have individual rapport with the village Sarpanch and Panchayat Head at the village level, which would help in spreading awareness regarding restricting unnecessary movement of public and social distancing from each other and keep their house, animal sheds, etc. clean. They can also reach out to the village representatives telephonically for taking such measures.

You are, therefore, requested to instruct the Department concerned so as to advise all veterinarians involved in veterinary health care and para-veterinarian staff assisting in all such activities and carrying out minor veterinary services including vaccinations, to take all necessary personal preventive measures in the wake of COVID-19 situation while undertaking essential veterinary healthcare in veterinary institutions and help create the necessary awareness among animal owners and attenders /helpers with regard to personal as well as animal hygiene, bio-safety and bio-security.

Best regards,

(Upamanyu Basu)

Dear Sir/Madam,

As you may be aware, due to the ongoing steps to control and contain the COVID-19 pandemic, many states have gone for complete lockdown to check spread of the virus. It is necessary to ensure continuous emergency services in the animal husbandry and veterinary sector, especially in emergent animal health situations. These may include, but are not restricted to, emergency services like disease diagnosis and treatment, monitoring of any emergency livestock and poultry diseases, immediate disease reporting, etc.

Accordingly, it is requested that veterinary hospitals and dispensaries in the state, including private veterinary clinics, veterinary pathologies, animal shelters etc. function in the normal course and the veterinary services be considered in the list of ‘Essential Services’.

However, veterinarians and related officials should ensure strict personal hygiene and avoid public gathering.

Best regards,

Yours sincerely,

(Upamanyu Basu)

Chief Secretary of All States and UTs.
